Senatorial Fight At Madison Has Not Yet Really Begun--Esch Arrives On Scene.

ASSEMBLYMEN WOULD RAISE PAY

Propose To Have Constitutional Amendment That Will Give Them A Thousand Dollars A Year.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 8.—Two candidates are now in the field for succession to John C. Spooner as United States senator for Wisconsin—William H. Hatten, New London, and Isaac Stephenson, Marinette. Both are millionaire lumbermen. Stephenson is nearly an octogenarian, seeking remainder of Spooner's term as last honor of life. Hatten is just at prime of mature life. He said last night: "I am following the advice of friends and responding to assurances of legislators who offer support and ask me to enter the field." Mr. Hatten has been in the Wisconsin senate eight years and was one of the main authors of the Wisconsin railroad rate commission law enacted in 1905. Mr. Stephenson said yesterday that he had received from Senator La Follette assurance of personal support, but La Follette followers here refuse to admit that such a thing is possible. Lenroot has left Madison without announcing his candidacy, but that makes no difference, as his friends are rounding up votes for him, knowing that he will run. Governor Davidson continues to deny that he is a candidate, but his friends insist upon working just as hard as though a formal announcement had been made. Petitions to legislators are going out from Madison, to be returned with voters' signatures asking members to vote for Davidson.

TARDY HONORS ARE PAID GIRL MARTYR

Canterbury, Conn., Pays Tribute to Quakeress Whom it Imprisoned For Teaching Negroes.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Waterbury, Conn., March 8.—After a lapse of nearly seventy-five years the repentant town of Canterbury arranged to pay honor tomorrow to the memory of Miss Prudence Crandall, whom it imprisoned for teaching colored girls to write. Tomorrow will be the seventy-fourth anniversary of Miss Crandall's condemnation. Born of Quaker parents, Prudence Crandall possessed a fine fighting spirit. In 1832, when she conducted a select academy for young women at Canterbury, she admitted to membership Sarah Harris, colored. Connecticut was at that time strong for social equality, but it wanted that equality for itself. Miss Crandall was visited by a committee headed by Federal Judge Andrew T. Judson, who insisted upon the colored girl's immediate expulsion. In response Miss Crandall inserted an advertisement in the local newspaper to the effect that hereafter she would instruct only colored girls. In a rage Canterbury held a town meeting as a result of which Miss Crandall and Elder Kneeland, who was in the assembly to pronounce her the only honest woman in all the township, were thrown into jail. Capt. Daniel Packard effected their escape, after which Miss Crandall went to Kansas, where she rallied with John Brown, and died only ten years ago. Now the town which condemned and imprisoned her seventy-four years ago has decided to erect a handsome memorial in her honor.

FORTUNES IN RECOVERING LOGS FROM RIVER BEDS

Thousands Of Dollars Worth Of Lumber Have Sunk In The Mississippi And Other Streams, And Remain Preserved.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Minneapolis, Minn., March 8.—The scarcity of pine timber in the middle west has impelled lumber mills to engage in a novel undertaking by which they hope to save millions of dollars' worth of logs which now lie at the bottom of the Mississippi and other rivers extending from the northern part of Minnesota where the Mississippi has its source, to La Crosse, in all about 1000 miles of river bed. For fifty years logging has been carried on by rafting pine logs down the river to the various mills, guided by small steamers or tugs.
Old logging men and mill owners believe that the new undertaking will result in fortunes for those engaged in the work. It is believed that the river bottom is literally paved with pine logs even as far south as Dubuque, Iowa. It has been demonstrated that logs may be raised with great profit. The plan is to lift these logs with a hoisting engine erected on flat boats, place the logs on the river bank and have a government sealer inspect them and record the marks found thereon. When the original owner can be found he will be compensated at the rate of $5 per thousand feet. This represents just so much clear gain to the owner and still leaves a margin of profit to the hoisters, who can find a ready market for the reclaimed logs at from $12 to $14 a thousand feet.
The logs that become "deadheads" or "sinkers" are chiefly of the small variety, known to lumbermen as "pig iron" Norway. They seldom get to be more than eight to twelve inches through at the butt and are heavy and soggy. Rivermen say a great many of these sink before leaving the landing, a few of them "deadhead" it down stream for a way, one end bobbing in the water, until, thoroughly soaked, they sink to the bottom.
Sound pine logs do not deteriorate when submerged in water, no matter how long they are immersed. Logs which have lain under water half a century have been found in perfect condition, and lately some of the best lumber produced has been that from some gigantic pine logs that were felled forty-five years ago and became drawn down in one of the neighboring lakes, by the waterlogging of hardwood timber with which the raft was bound. The entire raft, chain bound, was lifted and half a million feet of perfect timber was recovered.
Other streams in Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Michigan, where logs have been rafted for years will be explored by the company now formed to begin operations on the Mississippi river. Each lumberman has a private mark which is affixed to every log. The state logging surveyors have a copy of these marks or brands, and when a log is recovered it will be an easy matter to tell to whom it originally belonged.

VERDICT OF $200 FOR JOHN BROWN

RETURNED BY JURY AFTER FOUR HOURS' DELIBERATION.

CITY ATTORNEY MAY APPEAL

First of the Three Actions Against St. Paul Road Taken up This Morning.

After four hours' deliberation, the jury trying the $1,000 damage action of John Brown vs. the City of Janesville, brought by the plaintiff to recover for crops injured in the great storm of August '8, returned a verdict of $200 for the plaintiff at two o'clock this afternoon. City Attorney Maxfield, who represented the defense, will enter a motion for a new trial and in case that is not granted may appeal to the supreme court. Atty. Fred C. Burpee represented the plaintiff in the action.

JOHN BROWN

Judging from observation with some of the jurors, afterwards, the general opinion from the outset of the conference was that the plaintiff, by reason of the city's neglect of the gutters in that quarter, was entitled to some restitution. But the question of how much was involved with that of the unusual character of the storm. "Could any commonwealth be expected to provide immediate and adequate relief from such visitations as the near cloudburst of August '8?" Plaintiff's counsel endeavored in his evidence and argument to minimize the importance of this aspect of the situation by showing that there had been other storms in this locality, notably that of July 26, 1896, which were of greater violence; that on one occasion within the last decade 3 inches of water fell in 30 minutes. At the conclusion of the Brown case a jury was drawn for the $25,000 damage suit of Maud M. Taylor, administratrix of the estate of the late Jos-

The plaintiff seeks to recover for the pain and suffering endured by her father during the few hours prior to his death. Court work is proceeding very slowly, owing to the peculiar nature of the cases tried. This is the third one and the jury fees paid out by the county, since February have already amounted to $400.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Story the Moon Told

"I'll tell you a good one," said the moon to little Bill, as he looked in through his window one night after Bill had been tucked snugly into bed. "Wish you would," cried Bill eagerly. "Well," began the moon, with the usual manner of one about to tell a good story, "I was shining my brightest on the snow, which was as white as your sheets and more sparkling, doing my best to make a good night for the skaters on the pond and the lovers

GOT FROZEN FAST.

In the sleighing parties, when whom should I see but old Miss Speckletoe and Mr. Shanghai sitting on the top rail of the fence around the ten-acre lot. They were as close to one another as they could get without taking off their coats, and I noticed that he had his arm around her.

"Arm?" interrogated Bill. "Well, I suppose I should say wing," said the moon, smiling. "And," he continued, "I heard him say to her: 'Oh, Miss Speckle, you are my tootsy wootsey! Tuk, tuk, tuk-aw!'" "And she replied: 'How sweet of you! Tuk, tuk, tuk-aw-say-so!'" "Didn't you laugh?" asked Bill. "Well, rather," said the moon, "for he said, 'I hope, dear, that your house-keeping bill will be as sweet and as small as your own when you present it to me.'"

"But," said the moon, laughing, "they sat so long with their beaks together that they got frozen fast to one another, and when I set they were still on the rail. It doesn't pay to be too spongy. Good night."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

Bunt, the Bear

Bunt, Uncle Billy's pet bear, had broken his chain and got loose. Uncle Billy was gone to town, and Uncle Billy was the only person in the house who could make him behave. "Bunt's loose! Bunt's loose!" screamed all the children, running in to their mother. Aunt Jennie took them with her into the bedroom.

Bunt came shuffling and snuffling into the house. He smelled some honey.

PULLED AT THE LID.

ey up in the attic in a big wooden chest. Bears love honey. He shuffled upstairs and grunted and snuffled when he got close enough to smell the honey plain. He climbed up on the back of the chest and pulled at the lid. Up it came, and in went his brown hairy paw. He got it full of honey. Then he leaned forward, and his weight smashed the lid down on it, pinching it cruelly. He drew back howling, pulled his paw out and licked it. Then he tried again. For nearly an hour old Bunt worked at that chest, but as he always got up on the lid before he tried to open it so he always pinched his toes and never got any honey.

When Uncle Billy came home they told him how bad the bear had been. He went upstairs to lead him down and chain him in the back yard.

Poor Bunt looked so miserable when he was being dragged away that Uncle Billy said, "I'll sell you to a circus, but first I'll give you as much honey as you want to eat, only you mustn't tell anybody I gave it to you."

Bunt winked his little piggy eyes as much as to say that he knew better than to tell. Uncle Billy turned back and gave him a great big piece of honeycomb to eat, and I am sure that Bunt did understand every word, for he has never to this day told anybody who gave him that honeycomb.—Atlanta Constitution.

VICTIMS OF THE DEADLY COAL-GAS

DR. FRED SUTHERLAND CALLED TO SOUTH HIGH ST. HOME.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN MARZLUFF

Overcome and Found Unconscious in Living-Room When Door Was Forced This Morning.

When Eugene Hall, a cement contractor who resides on Galena street, went to the home of John Marzluff at 408 South High street about six o'clock this morning to keep an appointment he received no response to his repeated knocks on the door. The same silence brooded over the place when he returned at eight o'clock. This time he peered into the windows of the living-room and saw Mr. Marzluff lying partly on the lounge and partly on the floor, his face appearing to be covered with froth. His wife had apparently slipped out of a chair and only her head and shoulders were resting in it. Mr. Hall proceeded to kick in the front door and call for help.

Old Gentleman in Critical State.
Dr. Fred Sutherland was summoned by Fred Marzluff, the son, and when he arrived on the scene found relatives and neighbors at work trying to revive the two victims. Mr. Marzluff was cold as in death, though the room was still hot as an oven, seemed to have no pulse, whatever, but was breathing slightly. After Mrs. Marzluff had been removed to her bed and restoratives applied the physician turned his entire attention to her husband. By manipulation and with stimulants he at length restored a fairly favorable respiration but after nearly four hours' labor the man was still unconscious. Mrs. Marzluff revived quickly and though suffering with a terrific headache her complete recovery was early assured. She is 74 years of age and Mr. Marzluff is 86.

Loose Lsinglass the Cause.
Loose-fitting singlass in the stove door was directly responsible for this untoward occurrence. Even after the house had been cleared once the gas accumulated so rapidly in the room this morning as to give those who remained severe headaches. Neighbors visited Mr. and Mrs. Marzluff last evening and before departing Mr. Hall made the business appointment which was to save their lives, if indeed, both of them do survive. Mr. Marzluff then lay down on the lounge near the stove while his wife retired to an adjoining bedroom. Sometime during the night she heard him call, or at least she now imagines that she did, and tried to reach his side. She got no further than the chair when she, also, was overcome. An attendant had been living with the aged couple, but his services were dispensed with yesterday.

Mr. Marzluff Better.
Late this afternoon it was learned that Mr. Marzluff had recovered consciousness and was progressing nicely towards recovery from his terrible experience.

REGISTERS WEIGHT OF ICE IN THE BOX

Letters Patent on Refrigerator Appliance Granted to former Janesville Man.

Herman A. Jaeger, who was formerly a teacher in the parish school of St. Paul's German Lutheran church here, has assisted in the perfection of an invention to weigh ice in refrigerators. He is now living in Oconomowoc and with two other residents of that place, Charles Ducklow and Martin Kier, has secured a letters patent. The appliance shows the initial weight of ice placed in the refrigerator and the amount of shrinkage through atmospheric conditions. Thus no chance is left for a dispute between the ice man and the consumer.

Flannels are Soft and Pliable, Washed

with Beach's Peosta Soap

Rubbing thickens flannels and should be avoided, hence the importance of using Peosta Soap which releases the dirt readily, and keeps all the Woolens soft and pliable.

9.—Shake flannels well before putting into water. Use three tubs, the water to be as warm as comfortable to the hand, and the same temperature in all three tubs. Make a good suds in first tub, by using the dissolved Peosta Soap. (See Ad. No. 2) wash flannels in this by sopping and squeezing. If very soiled they may be soaked, but only a few moments. When washing flannels only two or three garments should be put in the tub at one time. Rinse in mild suds in second tub, and again in third tub of clear water. Be sure water is of some temperature in all three. A little bluing may be used in the third water if liked. Put through wringer. Shake well, pull slightly the long way and dry quickly—out of doors if possible, but do not freeze woolens. The color of blue flannels or cotton goods may be revived by adding a little vinegar to the rinsing water.

RULING IS AGAINST STANDARD OIL CO.

ST. LOUIS ORDER OF SERVICE IS SUSTAINED:

FEDERAL COURT DECISION

Jurisdiction to Compel the Appearance of the Indicted Magnates and of Non-Resident Witnesses is Upheld.

St. Louis, March 8.—A decision written by Judge Sanborn and concurred in by Judges Hook, Vandeventer and Adams, sitting in the United States circuit court for the Eastern district of Missouri, was rendered Thursday, overruling the motion of attorneys for the defendants in the government's case against the Standard and auxiliary oil companies and specified individuals to vacate the order to bring in non-resident defendants and to quash the service upon them of subpoenas.

Over a month ago a motion was filed by the defendants to the effect that it was not in the jurisdiction of the St. Louis court to compel non-resident witnesses to come here and testify in the suit. Arguments were heard before Federal Judges Sanborn, Hook, Adams and Vandeventer and the point at issue was taken under advisement.

The attorneys for the oil companies and the oil magnates set up three reasons why those not residents of the eastern judicial district of Missouri should not be compelled to come here and testify in the trial of the government's case.

They were:

1. That the court was without jurisdiction to make the order bringing them here.
2. That the order was premature and irregularly made.
3. That the ends of justice did not require that the non-resident defendants should be brought into this suit.

The decision overrules these motions. There are several defendants in all, including Rockefeller, Rogers, Flagler and six other trust magnates and 61 companies or corporations, which are the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and its subsidiary companies.

LAWMAKER IS ARRESTED.

Massachusetts Man Accused of Asking and Accepting Gratuity.

Boston, March 8.—S. John Lamoureux, of North Adams, Republican representative in the legislature from the Second Berkshire district, was arrested Thursday on an indictment returned by the Suffolk county grand jury, charging him with corruptly requesting and accepting a gratuity. The indictment consists of four counts and alleges that Lamoureux received $180 from William H. McMaster of this city on a promise to influence two members of the legislative committee against a certain bill now pending in the legislature. Later Lamoureux was held in $2,000 bonds.

Anti-Fraternity Bill Passes.

Topeka, Kan., March 8.—The senate Thursday passed the anti-fraternity bill already passed by the house, which makes it unlawful for high school students and teachers to belong to fraternities. Many high school students and teachers acted as lobbyists during the legislature's consideration of the bill.

CUTTING STEEL WITH YARN.

Prisoner Cuts One Bar in 18 Hours and Another in 5 Hours.

What the drop of water does to the hardest stone is only a circumstance to what a thread of yarn can accomplish.

Maj. McClaughry, warden of the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, once found a prisoner who was supposed to be pounding stone working away at one of the bars to an outside window.

The man finally admitted what he was doing and was induced to give a demonstration. A grating of the same description was placed in his cell, says Popular Mechanics, and a guard stationed over him to exact the proof of the statement.

With the limestone dust and silicate from the stone pile, the yarn from his sock and a little water this man cut the bessemer steel bar in 18 working hours. With some fine emery, a chalk line and two wooden handholds to save his fingers he made the other clean cut of the bar in five hours, proving the matter to the guard's satisfaction.

As to Chess.

Chess is of great antiquity, and its origin is lost in obscurity. Though nearly every nation under the sun claims the invention of the pastime, it is undoubtedly of oriental origin. The Romans placed over the door of the Temple of Janus: "Ex Oriente Lux et Ludus Scacchorum" ("Out of the East came light and the game of chess.") Chess was called by the Hindus "chaturanga," the four angas—that is, the four members of the army—elephants, horses, chariots and foot-soldiers. The Chinese played chess 5,000 years ago, and called it the "game of war." And to-day we have "kriegspiel," the modern game of war.

Timepiece Paperweights.

Novel and useful are the glass paperweights with a clock inset in the top. They are octagonal, so can be made to stand, but the clock is more plainly seen when face up.

PERKINS PAYS $54,019.19

REIMBURSES NEW YORK LIFE
FOR CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTION.

Former Vice President of Company Sends Orr His Check for the Principal and Interest.

New York, March 8.—George W. Perkins, former first vice president of the New York Life Insurance company and now a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., has sent to the New York Life his personal check for $54,019.19 to reimburse the company for the Republican campaign contribution made from its funds in 1904, in connection with which Mr. Perkins recently was made defendant on a charge of larceny.

Announcement of the restitution of the principal of $49,500 and interest to date was made Thursday by President Alexander E. Orr, of the New York Life, to whom Mr. Perkins Wednesday, before leaving on a trip to the south, addressed a letter inclosing the check.

President Orr also gave out the letter. In it Mr. Perkins declares that in dismissing the criminal proceedings against him the court intimated that the campaign contribution was not of proper corporate purpose. He again asserts that he was acting upon a request of the then president of the New York Life when he advanced the money for the campaign contribution in 1904, and says that when the president of the company reimbursed him there was no thought on the part of either of any personal advantage, but a belief that they were "acting for the best and broadest interests of the policy holders, both at home and abroad."

Miss Sanborn's Ducks.

Miss Kate Sanborn, who has written much on the abandoned farms of New Hampshire, tells of an experience she had in raising ducks. The ducks proved to be enormous feeders and were consuming the profits of the farm without making the expected returns in eggs. One day the ducks were at the kitchen door clamoring for more food when an old farmer called.

To him Miss Sanborn told the story of her failure to coax the ducks to lay. The farmer laughed uproariously and finally said:

"Them ducks of yours, Miss Sanborn, is all drakes."

The Way of Happiness.

There is work that is work, and there is play that is play; there is play that is work and work that is play, and in only one of these lies happiness.—Gelett Burgess.

An Heirloom.

"Well," mused the poet, "I may not leave my family much life insurance but I shall certainly leave them a large collection of hitherto unpublished poems."

MR. HORSE OWNER,

Are you going to buy a Harness, either single or double-driving or work--this spring?

Will you consider for a moment these few facts about our hand made, guaranteed harness?

Just a few words to point out the difference between the machine made cheaper sort and our Hand Made Guaranteed Kind.

You may or may not have had experience with cheaper priced machine harness, but if you will come into our repair shop any day and see the repairs—expensive ones, too—being put on those machine made harnesses you would very quickly decide as to your future purchases. This is fact. You may pay a few dollars less to start with for machine made harness but a year's wear will extract that saving from your pocket on repairs. On the other hand, our hand made guaranteed harness will outwear twice over the other and is cheapest to buy in the long run. Three men are making harness which sells about as fast as they can produce it. Your order is next.

THE IOWA SEPARATOR

saves the farmer with a herd of 10 cows $10 per head a year, and that pays for the separator in one year's time. The Iowa has the strongest features of any on the market. Its sales have been phenomenal, its growth remarkable. There is reason for it and you can easily know why it eclipses competitors.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Fair tonight and Saturday, cooler in eastern portion tonight.

SENATORIAL GOSSIP

Madison and the state legislature has not yet settled down to the direct realization of the senatorial situation. Thus far everything is at sea. Candidates for this high office are on hand to take advantage of every opening afforded them, but thus far none have been offered. Reports from the newspapersmen located at Madison are misleading and show that they know no more of the real situation than do persons not in the inner circle. Thus far two avowed candidates are in the field—Isaac Stephenson of Marinette and ex-State Senator Hatten. Lemroot has been to Madison and it is reported has left. Cooper and Escara in Madison, but have made no real overtures to the legislature as a whole. Cooper gave up his pleasant junketing trip to Panama to come to Madison, so he will evidently become a factor in the fight before long. Hatten appears to be out of the running thus far, although he may appear at a later date. Governor Davidson still retains a sphinx-like silence, as does Connor. Other men are mentioned, but none of them seriously enough at present to really be considered as important factors, although Hutton and Sanborn have expressed desires of being honored. One thing is certain—the ultra radicals are mustering all the strength possible to make the selection of the new senator, a so-called victory for their doctrines, and the more conservative members have not yet reached any conclusion of a defensive campaign. The vote on this important question comes on March 10th, when the majority of the state will be most vitally interested in the primary election for municipal offices. One report that apparently has no foundation, except rumor, states that the next Senator will be a man who has not been to Madison and has taken no part in the present unseemly fight for the toga. This does not sound well for the candidates already on the scene of battle or for any of the men whose names have been mentioned. Another rumor is that the Germans are seeking to elect a German, claiming that they are in a majority of the voters and taxpayers of the state, all other nationalities counted. This all tends to strengthen the idea that the Madison correspondents as yet know nothing of the real situation and all the general public can do is to sit and wait.

CITY AFFAIRS

Within the next ten days the selection of the standard-bearers of the republican and democratic parties will be chosen. Their choice depends upon the voters at the primary. Upon them rests the responsibility of selecting good, honest, efficient businessmen capable of handling the city affairs for the next two years. The man who stays at home and does not vote and then criticizes the choice of the men who voted should have no sympathy or following. The right to vote is given for the purpose of self-government, government by the people, for the people. The new primary law is supposed to rectify the errors of having the bosses select the candidate and then pack the caucus and nominate their man. If this new law is to be effective every good citizen, interested in municipal affairs, should vote on March 10th. Sentiment should not control the votes, but a good, sober consideration of the worth of the candidates should count. Every citizen is urged to be at the polls and cast their ballot for the man of their choice and thus do their duty as a citizen.

ROOSEVELT'S BIG STICK

This morning's papers announce that Harriman has decided that Roosevelt is on the right track. That while he has made mistakes the great corporations have also made mistakes. In other words, he bows before the "big stick." Harriman, the king of the railroads of the country, admits that the people have something to say as well as the railroads. In the idea that the government has perhaps overstepped its authority and become too radical in its legislation and enforcement of the laws, Mr. Harriman has many followers. There is such a thing as overdoing a good thing. Too many cooks spoil a broth and too much legislation of the radical kind is liable to permanently injure the railroads so that it will take years to remedy the wrongs enacted. If Roosevelt and Harriman come together and patch up an agreement as to legislation and railway management well and good, but this secret dealing between the President and railway is not the best possible outcome of the present railway legislation.

MONEY WILL COUNT

That money counts in the enactment of law is verified by the trend the Thaw trial is taking in New York, the Davis trial in Illinois and the MacDonald trial in Chicago. Here are three cases where the law is plain regarding the crimes alleged to have been committed. Yet, in each, money has employed clever lawyers who are so twisting and transposing the laws that it is doubtful if there is a conviction in any one of the three cases. The old Mosaic law of an eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth and a life for a life is forgotten in the modern day law matters.

John Sharp Williams, minority leader of the House and hailing from Mississippi, has senatorial aspirations. Well, Mr. Williams is one of the leading democrats of the country and if he wants higher honors at the hands of his faction, why not give him the support of the press the country through. The northern press will have such a weight of influence on the solid south.

London is today the scene of police activity. The Dowager Empress of Russia is visiting her sister, the Queen of England. The police are vigilant to prevent any overtures being made by the anarchists in behalf of the short route to glory.

Even though there is no republican alderman ticket in the fifth ward, republicans can vote for the office of Mayor, city clerk and justice of the peace on the republican ticket and they should not forget it either.

Janesville promises to be busy this spring and summer. The acceptance of the Madison interurban franchise has been filed and the North-Western road is planning to build up South Janesville and its new yards.

The Russian Douma is getting down to work now. It is safe to say that their session for the legislation of all of Russia will not be as long as will the present session of the Wisconsin legislature.

That clean sheet proposition for hotel-keepers and inn proprietors promises to become a law this year. It has long been considered a joke, but now it looks as though it would pass.

Strict party lines have been swept away this spring and from the talk about the city many a democrat will vote for a republican candidate and vice versa.

So Swettenham is going to sweat it out at home. Good for Johnny Bull. What Swettenham needs is a good hard lesson and evidently he is going to get it.

President Eliot has berated the lion in his den when he went directly opposite to Roosevelt in his opinion on football and kindred sports.

The Brownsville affair has even invaded the sanctity of the Wisconsin legislature and congress is to be memorialized again on the subject.

Jimmy Garfield has a great opportunity to develop into a strong man now and if he is anything like his father he will develop.

Spring floods and spring freshets are soon to come and shortly the oldest inhabitant will relate how it was in the spring of fifty.

Nebraska passed a two-cent railway rate bill and the railways promptly retaliated by cutting off all excursion tickets.

When it comes to doing things in the legislature Janesville always has a representative ready for the emergency.

Janesville people are urged not to forget the benefit ball to be given for the Sisters' hospital.

Won't it seem funny to talk of Ex-President Roosevelt?

PRESS COMMENT

Boers to Rule Transvaal. St. Louis Globe-Democrat: The elections just held for the first parliament in the Transvaal under British sway has resulted in a victory for the Boers. The progressives, or British party, won 21 of the 69 seats in the chamber, while the het volk, or Dutch party, gained 37 seats. The rest of the seats in the chamber will be held by 6 nationalists, 3 laborites and 2 independents. All of these minor groups are allied with the het volk on the main issues, which gives the Boers a majority of 23 in the chamber.

Premier Campbell-Bannerman is denounced by the Tories in England for giving to the Transvaal the sort of home rule which has put the Boers in control, but as they comprise a large majority of the population, the premier could not devise any sort of a fair scheme of representative government which would have prevented them from getting into the ascendancy. As all elements of the population want prosperity, no harmful legislation against any important interest is likely to be attempted.

Gold mining is by far the biggest single concern of the colony. It amounted to $119,000,000 in the calendar year 1906, and will reach $140,000,000 for 1907, according to the present outlook. Gen. Botha, the last of the Boer warriors to be "reconstructed," is put at the head of the ministry under the new dispensation, but peace is the true interest of Boers as well as British hereafter.

Authority in New Directions. Chicago Tribune: The significance of the great legislative achievements of the last congress cannot be misunderstood. They are an assertion of national authority in new directions for the protection of the public. This is a necessary assertion, although it would not have seemed so to the statesmen of fifty years ago. The industry of the country has become so dependent upon the railroads that it is a matter of national concern that they should be so effectively regulated that the men who own and operate them shall not have it in their power to overtax and cripple industry.

Fraudulent ingenuity was carried to an extreme in the production of adulterated foodstuffs and drugs. State laws did little to hinder the flagrant rascality of the men who were cheating and poisoning the public. The people, tired of being swindled, turned to congress for relief, and congress gave it in the shape of the pure food and the meat inspection laws. This was legislation in the interest of the public morals as well as the public health.

The disclosures of fraudulent financing in connection with railroads and of dishonest methods on the part of some manufacturers have disgusted the public and have led to a demand for more honesty in business life. If there are fraudulent practices not yet exposed the public wants them brought to light and legislation enacted which shall put an end to them. If the states cannot do it, then the national government must.

The Fifteenth congress has failed to economize, where it could easily have done so. It has refused to do justice to the Philippines as regards the sugar and tobacco tariff duties. There have been other shortcomings. But it has attended to the matters which the people were demanding it should act on.

CATARRH A UNIVERSAL BLOOD DISEASE

Catarrh is usually worse in Winter, because of the cold, damp and suddenly changing climate. Colds are contracted, and neglected and as the secretions from the different inflamed membranes are absorbed into the blood the unpleasant symptoms of the disease commence. The nostrils are stopped up and a constant dropping of mucus back into the throat keeps up a continual hawking and spitting. The patient has dull headaches, ringing noises in the ears, and often slight fever and a depressed, half-sick feeling accompanies the disease. The blood becomes so fully charged with catarrhal matter that stomach troubles are brought on, the kidneys and bladder are affected, and if the blood is not purified of the poison the lungs become diseased because of the constant passage of impure blood through them. Catarrh cannot be cured with washes, sprays, inhalations, and such treatment; these cannot reach the poison-laden blood where the real cause is located, and can only give temporary relief and comfort. A disease which affects the entire blood supply as does Catarrh, must be treated with a blood purifier. S. S. S. is the best remedy for Catarrh, which has grown to be a universal disease. It goes to the bottom of the trouble, rids the blood of the catarrhal matter, reinvigorates the circulation, and cures this disgusting disease permanently. When S. S. S. has purified the blood every part of the system receives a supply of fresh, healthy blood; then the inflamed membranes heal and every symptom of Catarrh passes away. Write for our book containing information about Catarrh, and ask for any medical advice you desire. No charge is made for either.

To Prevent Blood Poisoning. Apply peroxide of hydrogen to the wound until it ceases to fizz; moisten bandage with same. Obtainable at all druggists, and ten cents worth will last several months. The wound heals quickly when it is used, as it kills all germs. It is used in hospitals after operations.

Feminine Preference. It is doubtful whether any woman to-day would be particularly elated at hearing herself vaguely labeled as "charming." She prefers to be known instead as "a good sort." The former to her mind is an illusive term, signifying the approval of elderly relations, while the latter implies affectionate toleration on the part of the eligible male.—Ladies' Field.

NEW METHODS POPULAR.

In the past few years there has been a wonderful change throughout the country in the handling of milk for family consumption. It was only a few years ago when the milk was delivered in bulk, but now a great deal is delivered in pint and quart bottles.

Pasteurized milk delivered in bottles and carefully sealed with pump caps is more appetizing than when it is measured out by the milk man and put in some open dish of the consumer. The sterilized bottles can be set most any place where it is cool, provided the cap is kept on, and there is no reason for removing it until the consumer is ready to use the milk. With the open pan it is different; the place where it is set must be clean and cool and protected from dust, which is not always easy to do. The pasteurized bottled milk can be kept in the refrigerator with vegetables, but milk kept in pans or crocks will take up the flavors of the surrounding atmosphere, and very often make it more or less unpalatable.

Pasteurization eliminates also all possible contagion and germ matter. Telephone your order or stop one of the five wagons.

RAILWAY YARDS MAY BE STARTED

C. & N. W. WILL PROBABLY BEGIN WORK SOUTH OF CITY SOON.

WOULD MEAN MUCH ACTIVITY

Company Refuses to Lease Any of the Three Hundred Acres It Purchased Last Year.

There is a prospect that the Chicago and North-Western railroad will begin the construction of its half-million-dollar yarding yards, roundhouse and machine shops on the property they purchased south of the city this spring.

The winter that the road would not start work here this year and that the land would be rented as has been customary in the past. C. S. Jackson, who has had charge of the property for the road, however, has received word from W. A. Gardiner, vice-president of the road, to the effect that no land will be leased this coming season.

May Mean Work

This is taken to mean that work on the construction of the gigantic yards will be begun this spring. The company owns three hundred acres of land which is located alongside its right-of-way and it is thought possible that if the work of actual construction is not begun the proposed yards will be graded and leveled and all preparatory labor for the actual construction work done this summer.

According to the plans discussed last spring when the land was purchased a forty-eight-horsepower engine and necessary machinery equipment were to be built and a mile of side-tracks. It is understood that this is yet the plan and that the blue prints for the buildings have been made and approved by the road's officials.

Much for Janesville

The establishment of yarding yards in the immediate vicinity of Janesville will mean much for the city. While the yards will not replace North Fond du Lac it will draw heavily from this quarter, as well as Baraboo and West Chicago, yards. It is said that the present system of turn-around at Harvard will also be done away with and the crews come on to Janesville. This will mean the addition of some two or three hundred families to the city.

Nothing Definite

Railroad officials in Janesville claim to know nothing definite relative to the plans. In the yards it is reported that the tracks between this city and Harvard are to be doubled and from Janesville to Madison, thus giving the road double tracks from Chicago to Elroy. It is also said that a new bridge is to be built south of the city across the Rock river to facilitate movement with the new yard. The local yards and shops are not to be changed and the yards will relieve the congested conditions that now exist.

HARRIMAN STRONG FOR COOPERATION

WANTS RAILWAYS AND GOVERNMENT TO PULL TOGETHER.

ADMITS PAST MISTAKES

Believes, Too, the Administration Realizes It Has Been a Little Too Radical in Its Attitude.

New York, March 8.—"I am ready to make the advancement of a scheme of cooperation between the government and the railways my chief interest," said E. H. Harriman, president of the Union Pacific railroad, on returning Thursday from Washington.

"We men at the head of great corporations are coming to a better understanding of what the government expects of us," he continued. "We are getting the point of view of the administration. I am of the opinion that the administration is beginning to realize that it has been a little too radical in its attitude toward the railroads, and I look to see its opposition take on more of the spirit of cooperation."

Mr. Harriman declined to talk about the report that he had obtained control of the Reading railroad. Speaking of agitation against corporate wealth, he said:

Says All Made a Mistake. "They—we—all of us, ought to have considered the possible effects of this agitation before it was begun or before conditions that made its growth possible were allowed to continue. If we had all met on common ground and cooperated for our mutual benefit nobody would be worrying over the situation as it is to-day."

"We all made a mistake in this. I realize the mistake, and I am of the opinion that the administration at Washington is beginning to realize that it has been a little too radical in its attitude toward the railroads. Henceforth I look to see its opposition take on more of the spirit of cooperation. I believe the railways can expect to receive more even-handed justice."

"We men at the head of the great corporations on our part are coming to a better understanding of what the government expects of us. We are beginning to get the point of view of the administration. We feel that we are now, all of us—the public, the government and the railways—on a common ground, where we can deal with each other in the right spirit."

Strong for Cooperation. "I'm more than willing to give my support to such a process of enlightenment. I'm ready to make the advancement of such a scheme of cooperation my chief interest. Surely there could be few conditions imaginable that would be of wider public benefit than to eliminate hostile friction."

"Our policy in the past has been a mistaken one, but it cannot be said that we have neglected our service to the public. When one considers what the railroads have done to develop this nation, we cannot believe that the railroads have been anything but beneficial to the nation. The marvelous development of the country has been due in a very large degree to the enterprise of its railroads."

Expenditures by Railways. "Since the time we took hold of the system of railroads, of which I am the head, the sum of $250,000,000 has been expended in rebuilding the roads. This has all been done since 1900. As another instance of what the railroads are doing to add to the general prosperity of the nation, I'll tell you that the roads of which I am the head purchase about 1,000,000 tons of steel rails yearly, and during that period we purchased about 4,000,000 ties."

"All this adds to the welfare of the nation and the development work which the railroads have done has in some cases, as is now shown, resulted in the building up of so large a traffic that they are unable to handle it."

"Combination really benefits the public. The public may think otherwise, but it will learn the real truth in time. That time will come sooner if combinations are legalized. I believe in control and regulation, as I declared before the interstate commerce commission, but I think, within the limit of such control, corporations ought to be allowed to combine as they find it necessary or beneficial."

Court adjourned as soon as he had finished. Friday forenoon Special Counsel George T. Buckingham and States Attorney Keeslar will reply, followed by the defense.

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, March 8, 1867.—A Runaway.—Deacon Wright had a narrow escape yesterday afternoon. A horse that he was driving to a buggy became frightened of the cars and took to his heels in a manner altogether too lively for safety of comfort. After running several rods, the deacon managed to rein him up.

Young Men's Association Lectures.—As the course of lectures of the Young Men's Association of this city concluded last evening, we are enabled through the courtesy of the officers of the organization, to give the financial results of the course. While they are not as gratifying as those of last year, they are still quite handsome. We are much pleased that the balance is in favor of the Association and not against it. The following is a list of lectures with the loss or gain on each: Milburn, loss $30; Dickinson, gain $54; Barnum, gain $50; Greeley, loss $10; Bungay, loss $15; Thompson, gain $50; Emerson, loss $24; Tilton, loss $26; Phillips, gain $98; Gough, gain $175; Greeley donation, gain $25; Phillips donation, gain $10; Balance on hand, $307.

Last year the course brought over $700 clear.

Hon. I. C. Sloan.

Our member of the thirty-ninth Congress arrived home yesterday afternoon, and was warmly welcomed by his numerous friends and acquaintances of both political parties. He informs us that the idea of impeaching Andrew Johnson has gained considerable ground, since the late vote, and that the President's friends look upon that event as much more likely to take place now than they have been in the habit of considering it. He regards the 40th Congress as more radical and resolute than the one which preceded it; in whose hands the interests of the nation will be secure.

Letter to Mr. James Cutter, Janesville, Wis.
Dear Sir: Why, do you think, can Devoe sell pure paint as low as others
sell adulterated paint?
There are 30 or 40 or 50 different makers of paint, that rank, in a way,
as "first-class"; they have their regions; one's region is large, another's is small; everyone is "first-class" in its region.
Of these 30 or 40 or 50, one is best, another next, and so on down; but the pitches are all the same or about the same—you can buy one for less than another though; a personal matter sometimes.
But how, do you think, can Devoe sell the best for no more than the rest? The answer is: it costs less to sell it; more to make, less to sell.
Reputation helps sell it. Its 150 years
help sell it.
Go by the name. Yours truly

BEGGS TALKS TO
THE LEGISLATURE

MLWAUKEE STREET CAR MAG-NATE APPEARED IN MADISON.

DISCUSSES PUBLIC SERVICE

Says the Proposed Law Should Be Remedied So as to Include
All Classes.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 8.—John I.
Beggs, head of the Milwaukee Electric Light, Heat and Traction Co., appeared before the senate and assembly committees on transportation
yesterday, in the hearing on the public service regulation bill. His presentation was made in a spirit of fairness and sincere intention to assist the committees in perfecting a measure which should be effective in securing to the public the best of service at the lowest safe prices and to safeguard the interests of the corporations against injury and loss of property and against ruinous competition. He took up the bill in parts, suggesting amendments here and there.

He laid down the principle that the service corporations ought to have adequate protection against thieves of current and gas and water which protection he declared the present statutes do not afford. He said it was his experience in Milwaukee that great losses are sustained by the corporations by reason of wire and main tappers and by circumvention of meters. He said some exceedingly aggravated cases had developed but he said he had the attorneys for the corporations been convinced that the evidence was sufficient under the inadequate laws to warrant legal action,
and the thieves had generally escaped unpunished. He proposed that additions be made to the bill so that such thieves could be reached. Chairman LeRoy of the assembly committee suggested that bills to such effect were now before the legislature. To this suggestion Mr. Beggs expressed pleasure and surprise. He did not seem to have heard that Senator Whitehead introduced four bills on this subject, making stealing of electricity or gas practically grand larceny.
It is said that these Whitehead bills were drawn in the offices of Miller, Mack & Fairchild in Milwaukee for the Milwaukee corporation.

Particular importance was attached by Mr. Beggs to the matter of classification of service, both in line with the wholesale principle of charge for service and so that the corporations could favor those patrons who took service at hours when there was little demand. The late afternoon hours, said Mr. Beggs, are the hours in which the facilities of the lighting and power companies are most heavily taxed, and the companies find that at some other hours
their machinery is idle, so he thought that the law should provide some latitude in respect to classifications, so that the companies could make such rates to patrons as would use the service at such times as would tend to keep the facilities in operation rather than leave them in idleness. This would be advantageous to the companies, to the particular patrons and to the public in general. It would enable the corporations to maintain larger efficiency of the facilities, sell all the product, as it were;

it would enable large patrons who could use the service at such hours
to get service at advantageous rates,
and would benefit the general public
by making the business generally more profitable and tend to make possible general reductions in rates. He also suggested that it would be easily understood that one classification would be best for Milwaukee, but that quite another classification would be best for Oshkosh, or still another for smaller cities.

Mr. Beggs did not so strenuously object to the delegation of authority to examine conditions, summon witnesses and take testimony as did some of the speaker of the previous day. He did, however, object to the proposed delegation of the power of the commission to make decisions.
The bill proposes that the commission can refer a complaint to an expert, with power to make the investigation and report his decision. Mr.
Beggs said he assumed that the commission would be disposed to do justice, composed of men broad minded and able, but he had not any faith in experts. On this point he was careful to say that he spoke out of large experience with experts, having hired them many times for various purposes. The expert, he declared, speaking out of his experience with them as in his own employ, would prove anything required of them, or anything that they wanted to prove out of any set of facts. Next day they were just as able to prove exactly the opposite out of the same set of facts.

An important proposal made with much seriousness by Mr. Beggs was that this state regulation law, whatever it might be when perfected and finally enacted, ought to apply precisely the same in every respect to the municipally owned and operated services as to those owned and operated by private corporations. The same reports ought to be required from both and the same facts regarding both laid before the public. He said this would be of greatest benefit to the citizens who are taxed by the municipality for their electric, gas or water services. They could see for themselves just how their services were being operated, at what cost and at what profit, and it ought to be made impossible for the operators of any municipal plant to disguise facts and accounts, to cover up the expenses by ingenious or wrong accounts, and to put out for public information wrong statements as to the most important in this day of craze for public ownership that these municipalized services be made to stand up in their right light, and that the known just how they are operated, whether at a profit or loss.

With such deliberateness of statement, Mr. Beggs asserted that there was no system of bookkeeping in Wisconsin or any other state so lacking in all that goes to make up scientific and correct accounting as the systems of municipal accounting. He declared municipal accounting systems to be "highly disreputable in the extreme."

Particular emphasis was laid by Mr. Beggs upon the opportunity which ought to be appreciated in this situation, to make the law of advantage to the corporations as well as to the patrons of these affected services.
He said that such a law as seemed to be contemplated would be of great advantage to the corporations in helping them to obtain capital necessary to keep pace with the march of invention. In this day of frenzied anti-corporation movement he said it was almost impossible for corporations to get needed capital because investors were afraid that public service properties would suffer damage and their securities be impaired. Such a commission would give security and thus make capital less timid. At present the corporation represented by Mr.
Beggs is unable to go on with prospected improvements and extensions because of the high cost of labor and material and above all because of the uncertainty of the future arising out of the everywhere apparent an-timony toward public service corporations. He displayed a circular from a Chicago house offering $2,000,000 of two-year 6% notes of the Chicago Milwaukee Electric Railway Co., secured by $2,500,000 bonds, and offered for sale by the brokers at 99.20 per cent. The company got 95 for them.
This, he said, shows how corporations are pressed by the timidity of capital.

The state system of regulation as in effect in Massachusetts was mentioned by Mr. Beggs as an admirable one, advantageous both to the corporations and to the people. Under it, he said, ruinous competition is prevented, and the commission keeps the rates down to good business level, allowing the companies to make a fair return on their capital and relieving the public of the cost of duplication of systems and the cost of competition. Capital will not always fight with itself, declared Mr. Beggs, so that where there are two competing companies, ruining each other
by competition, the time will come when they will come together and the public will then pay for what the competition has cost before, for what may have been lost, and then some.

The better way is to protect safe regulation, prevent duplications of systems, keep out ruinous competition, but provide a power such as is proposed in this state commission so that the companies will be safeguarded in the right to earn a fair profit and no more, and the public will get the service for the lowest reasonable cost and the quality of the service can be maintained to the maximum.

Chairman LeRoy, at the close of Mr. Beggs' remarks, asked what he thought of the railroad rate commission as a body in which to repose the regulatory power proposed in the bill.
Mr. Beggs hesitated and there was an audible twitter in the senate chamber, for many of those present knew that Mr. Beggs and his company have been on the carpet before the railroad commission in Milwaukee during the last few weeks, and then Mr. Beggs with emphasis declared that if men such as those who make up the railroad commission could be secured, the service corporations would have nothing to fear. "I want to speak of them in the highest terms," he said.
"If we get a commission as able, honest and fair as the railroad commission, I am for it. We have nothing to fear then. The corporations want a fair deal. With such a commission we would surely get it, and we would have no cause to fear the commission. The corporations want nothing more than a square deal. They are particularly at this time in need of some instrument to stand between them and the public to ward off the consequences of the work of yellow journals which poison the public mind against these properties. I tell you, gentlemen, there is serious trouble coming from this source, very serious consequences, but perhaps I ought to say that in this respect Wisconsin is afflicted no worse than are other states."

Alderman L. B. Rowley of Madison, who addressed the committees on the previous day, spoke again briefly,
making the suggestion that the powers of the expert or other person to whom the matter of examination of witnesses should be referred, ought to be made pretty large, so that witnesses could not block the work by refusing to answer questions.

DOINGS OF LOCAL

Five Wisconsin Engineers to go on Eastern Trip—Two at Beloit Become Authors.

One of the requirements of the engineering courses at Wisconsin university is a trip to some of the largest and most noted industrial plants of the country. Two trips are planned each year—a western and an eastern —and each junior is supposed to go on one of these. About thirty will this year go on the western which includes Milwaukee, Chicago, Joliet and other Illinois cities; and about seventy will go east, visiting Chicago, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk and Pittsburgh.
Among those in the latter party will be Victor Anderson and Roger Wiggins of this city. A number of seniors will accompany the junior party east and in this delegation will be Michael Hayes, Jr., Will Ryan and Edward
Palmer, all of Janesville.

Two of the "most worthy efforts" that have recently appeared in the Round Table, the monthly paper of the Beloit college students, came from the pens of Janesville boys. One, a story entitled "The Girl and the Game," was written by Earl Brown and reprinted in the Phoenix of the local high school; and the other is a
"Eugene Field-style" translation of a Latin ode by C. Russell Zeininger.
Mr. Zeininger read this and one of Eugene Field's translations at a Latin class reception and not one present, including the college professor, was able to distinguish which was the work of Field.

THE INTERURBAN RAILROAD

Situation at the Capital City is Still in Statu Quo But Renewed Effort
Will Soon Be Made.

Officials of the Janesville & Madison Interurban railway company today
filed at the city hall their acceptance of the franchise passed last October.
Along with the acceptance comes the assurance that the line is to be built and that operations will be commenced as soon as the situation at Madison clears up and some other obstacles of less import are overcome.
The proposed measure extending Mr.
Montgomery's urban franchise in the Capital City was laid on the table several weeks ago but it is understood that another effort is to be made to adjust the questions which are at issue. Within thirty days of the beginning of the excavations the Janesville

$5,000 bond as a guarantee of the proper restoration of the streets. If all goes well construction work may be actually under way by midsummer.

Danderine

GREW MISS LEWIS' HAIR

AND WE CAN

PROVE IT

The Great Danderine Never Fails to Produce the Desired Results

MISS Lewis' hair was very thin and it was less than two feet in length when she began using Danderine. She says her hair and scalp are now fairly teeming with new life and vigor. That's the main secret of this great remedy's success as a hair grower. It enlivens, invigorates and fairly electrifies the hair glands and tissues of the scalp, causing unusual and unheard-of activity on the part of these two most important organs. Resulting in a strenuous and continuous growth of the hair.

The following is a reproduction of Miss Lewis' last letter:

Dear Doctor Knowlton:

You know I told you in my first letter that my hair would not reach much below my shoulders, and that all of it together only made one tiny braid.

I am sending you my photograph, which I had taken at Stevens Bros. It tells the whole story better than I can tell it.

Everybody I know is using Danderine, so you see I am doing something to show my appreciation.

Sincerely yours, (Miss) EVA LEWIS.

Danderine makes the scalp healthy and fertile and keeps it so. It is the greatest scalp fertilizer and therefore the greatest hair-producing remedy the world has ever known. It is a natural food and a wholesome medicine for both the hair and scalp. Even a 25c bottle of it will put more genuine life in your hair than a gallon of any other hair tonic ever made. It shows results from the very start.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1. per bottle

FREE. To show how quickly Danderine acts we will send a large sample free by return mail to any one who sends this advertisement to the Knowlton Danderine Co., Chicago, with their name and address and 10 cents in silver or stamps to pay postage.

Y., for a free copy of his book of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicines and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them.

Cure's Woman's Weaknesses.

We refer to that boon to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. John Fyfe one of the Editorial staff of THE ECLECTIC MEDICAL REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Helleborus) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription":

"A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator... makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system. It contains 'in Helleborus' a medicinal which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent. Dr. Fyfe further says: 'The following are among the leading indications for Helleborus (Unicorn root). Pain or achiness in the back with leucorrhoea; stoic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women; mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women; constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia (flooding), due to a weak condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhoea (suppressed or absent monthly periods), arising from or accompanying an anemic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root (Helleborus) and the medicinal properties of which it most faithfully represents."

Of Golden Seal root another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says: "It is an important remedy in diseases of the womb in all extraneous conditions and general enfeeblement, it is useful."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pills are the original Little Liver Pills, first put up by old Dr. Pierce over 40 years ago. Much imitated, but never equaled. Easy to take as candy.
